1. This workflow is supposed to represent an approval process in a office setting.

2. Once the initiator submits the request the workflow will send a email alerting the approver that there is a request pending.

3. The work flow will wait for the approvers response.

4. If the request is approved the workflow will notify the initator and will end the workflow.

5. If the workflow is rejected it will notify the initiator of its rejection and wait for the initator to make the changes.

6. After the changes are made the workflow will notify the approver and the workflow will start the proccess over.
